

I've followed this general issue for years and am strongly against any action that will allow even more consolodation of media ownership that has occurred already. I view efforts promoting the relaxation of current regulations as yet more examples of a conservative agenda that bestows advantages to well financed interests over the broader public good. I have no doubt an examination of other comments to this process will reinforce this fact.